ABOUT TOVE LIND BONANDER

Tove joined Zacco in 2025 and she is a senior product manager of our platform IPview.

With a robust background in software product management and driving digital experience design, she brings a wealth of expertise to her role. IPview is designed to provide comprehensive oversight of intellectual property rights and assets. Her leadership supports the platform's goal of offering real-time portfolio management and quality assurance, aligning with Zacco's commitment to innovation in intellectual property services.

Tove holds a BA(Hons) in Communication & Mass Media from Glasgow Caledonian University and has worked within various roles and companies in product software development since 2008. Before joining Zacco, Tove was leading various digital transformations within Ericsson.
