ABOUT LINDA METHLIE

Linda is an experienced lawyer who provides clients with legal and strategic advice within matters regarding technology, digitalisation, and intellectual property. She possesses extensive expertise in IT projects, including licensing, outsourcing, cloud computing, and software development. In addition, Linda has in-depth knowledge of Data Protection from large global companies, including establishing privacy structures, managing breaches and authority contacts.

Linda also assists clients with the strategic, commercial, and legal aspects of intellectual property, particularly trademark and copyright law. Linda is adept at managing clients' IP portfolios to ensure protection and enhancement of their intellectual property positions. Furthermore, she handles litigation on behalf of clients before the courts in Norway concerning intellectual property disputes.
